

ATP NeuroEndocrine Balancer

Experiences: Integrated Healing Systems, Linda Hannapel, Keith Frick, 2017

I have had a severe imbalance of my adrenal glands (hypo-adrenalism) and endocrine system from several traumas in the past. The NeuroEndocrine Balancer repeatedly makes me feel happy and content -- which means it must be helping my body produce happy hormones and balance my challenged Neuroendocrine System. It's inspirational!

I have significantly more energy, I have come out of a long period depression, my adrenals are stronger and I am getting better sleep. During a session, new creative ideas come to me and I have more clarity.

The ATP NEB also assists my access to the Transcendent (deep meditation). During a session on the ATP NeuroEndocrine Balancer, I regularly fall into a deep transcendental meditation state. I immediately feel a shift from the "bounded" (waking, dreaming and sleep) to the unbounded Transcendent where there is no time & space, only pure Being.

On the physical level, the tantric level, I feel the sexual tantric energy go from the root chakra to the navel, heart, 3rd eye and crown where an effulgent energy radiates from my crown through my entire body and out to the infinite universe. The ATP NEB opens up all the chakras and normalizes and energizes the flow of cerebral spinal fluid.

The experience of meditation I have is a place of contentment and joy -- the Morphogenic Field, a place of "infinite correlation" and deep Silence in between waking, dreaming and sleeping states of consciousness.

If you are not familiar with Science of Consciousness -- the Transcendent is a state of consciousness that lies in between Waking, Sleeping and Dreaming states of consciousness but it is not familiar to all of us. In meditation one first begins to transcend and occasionally there can be a direct conscious experience of the Transcendent, the 4th state of consciousness. You then take that awareness of deep silence and pure coherence and take it into activity until stress begins to erode it. It's like the bleaching and dying of a cloth -- until it sustains a rich color. Activity bleaches the silence and coherence from us until the experience of deep transcendence brings the color back again. Repetition and regularity is the key.

Ultimately with a repeated and regular experience of this state of "restful alertfulness" -- we become conversant with the Transcendent -- place of pure consciousness, deep silence, and pure coherence. It is a place of unbounded awareness -- a place of unconditional Love in total alignment with the Laws of Nature.

The gains of a transcending meditation lie on the level of action where true meaning lies -- it remove deep stress, stabilizes our physical/emotional health while organizing surface level thinking.

This is exactly what the ATP NeuroEndocrine Balancer continues to give me in my life. From several traumas I've recently experienced -- what I thought lost has returned. I am so grateful. Amazing!

Linda Hannapel, Sedona, 2017

Hi Sky: We just received our ATP NeuroEndocrine Balancer. Here are our experiences so far:

All we can say right now is -- this way beyond anything you - or anyone have created!! I knew by its weight when I picked the ATP NeuroEndocrine Balancer up at the PO, that this was different. The larger emitter head with the Xilinx chip it impressive -- we can directly experience how the ATP Neuro-Endocrine Balancer combines at least 4 of your technologies in one unit: the ATP Inductor, Lumina Nocturna, Sky Heart and Infra-red.

Linda had another round of Adrenal Exhaustion these last 2 weeks -- and she is getting better. She says she felt her body was "instantly filled with pure Divine Light and Love -- my body is so grateful! All my energy blockages were remove and opened up to receive the healing power of the ATP/NEB. My body is delighted"!

I notice amazingly quick results on my former sciatica stress area and neck in just 2 minutes. It quickly restores low libido. My usual test with your previous instruments on the 3rd Eye chakra - to see how long it relaxes me was brief. Because it is so much more powerful -- it happens in just a few seconds. Since then it seems to have enhanced access to the Transcendent during meditation. It also appears to remove inflammation and associated energy stagnation more quickly and long-lasting than an ice pack. My self-adjustments are effortless and now more advanced.

Your work has now reached a level where it overtakes any other instrument we have experienced over the last 30 years. It has much more noticeable effects with one treatment -- this is not subtle! Yet of course this is subtle in so many powerful ways -- as we notice the ongoing evolutionary benefits from the bio-energetic feedback Xilinx chips that create an evolutionary biofeedback loop to advance cellular/tissue regeneration. This is confirmed with our AK testing -- how the ATP/NEB site-durations change over time -- and of course from other subtle perceptions we have had using it -- having experienced almost all of your creations in the past.

At we have an instrument which not only puts Photo-Dynamic Therapy to whole new level -- but removes the separation between healing intent and observable benefits. The ATP/NEB operates on a level of where pure consciousness comes into form into the material world.

We will continue to update! With all gratitude and appreciation for your creation,

Linda and Keith, February, 2017